

TARGETING CUSTOMERS ACROSS MULTIPLE CHANNELS
ABSTRACT

A customer request is received, and the channel type upon which it was made is 5 identified. The customer making the request is also identified. A record of customer activity is available, and from this, a set of beliefs for the customer for the current channel is formed. The beliefs map to profile attributes. The beliefs are merged to form an integrated profile (i.e. for the same customer across all channels), and on this basis a customer targeting promotion is generated. The promotion is added to the response to the 10 specific customer request and together these are sent to the customer.